

Hospital Sterilization Failure Introduction

A class action suit has been launched against Health Labrador Corporation on behalf of hundreds of residents of the Labrador City area who have been injured by the failure of the Captain William Jackman Memorial Hospital to follow proper sterilization procedures at gynecology clinics.

The hospital took eight months before contacting patients about potential infection.

In addition, damages are being sought over the method of informing affected patients. The procedures used to contact patients appear to violate the protection of personal privacy provided under the Privacy Act of Newfoundland.

Ches Crosbie Barristers is working on this lawsuit in conjunction with Klein Lyons of Vancouver, British Columbia.

If you feel that you have been harmed by the improper sterilization methods, please complete the “Do You Qualify?” form or contact us by email. The initial consultation is free and if we accept your case, payment will be on a contingency basis. If we don’t win, you pay no legal fees.

For more information, please contact:

- Ches Crosbie, Ches Crosbie Barristers, 169 Water Street, 4th Floor, St. John’s, NL, A1C 1B1, (709) 579-4000 or 1-888-579-3262
- or
- David Klein, Klein Lyons, 1333 W. Broadway, Suite. 1100, Vancouver, BC (604) 874-7171.